ABOUT THE PRESENTER

Nancy is a certified trainer with the CCPDT, and a fully certified behavior consultant with the IAABC. She teaches seminars, webinars, and workshops on dog training, dog behavior, and the business end of training throughout Canada, the US, and Europe. She has presented at conferences for the Pet Professional Guild, the IAABC, the Dog Event in France, and the WOOF! conference in the UK.

She is an instructor for Fenzi Dog Sports Academy, where she teaches popular courses focusing on various topics including how to treat separation anxiety, how to use desensitization and counter-conditioning to treat fearful behaviours, and how to tackle other common behaviour issues. She also offers virtual consultation services to other professional dog trainers.

Nancy has written numerous articles on dog behaviour and is a regular contributor to the Whole Dog Journal. She is a founding member of the Regroupement Québécois des Intervenants en Éducation Canine (RQIEC), a Quebec-based association of trainers and behaviour consultants.

She shares her home in Quebec, Canada with her husband Tom and their Border Terrier, Bennigan.

petra@petraedwards.com

www.petraedwards.com

Petra is an accredited professional canine trainer (PPAB) with a specialisation in animal behaviour (BSc. Animal Behaviour). She has also completed an Honours degree in Animal Science and is at the business end of her PhD journey in the same field. Petra has been involved in the dog training industry since she was 12, when her mother, Mim Edwards, began Adelaide Pet Dog Training. She offers in home consultations as part of her own business, and runs pet dog training classes and puppy pre schools for various organisations around Adelaide. She is very passionate about animal behaviour and welfare and the amazing achievements and relationships that force-free training facilitates time and again.

Nic Bishop | Behaviourtects

Build Better Behaviour

nicibird@gmail.com

Nic is a Humanimal fascinated with nature, learning, behaviour and the art of storytelling. He has worked in the zoo world for the past 20 years in Australia and overseas, with a keen focus on birds and free flight presentations. These have blended with his background as an actor/singer to see him working internationally in the field of Nature Theatre in free flight displays in Australia, the Middle East and the USA. His local career history includes stints at Zoos South Australia, Taronga Conservation Society and Alice Springs Desert Park, supported by academic achievements in Ornithology and Zoo Animal Management. In 2012, Nic established a learning group called Behaviourtects with the goal of building better behaviour in all our training interactions. He is currently the Manager of Nature Theatre at Zoos SA.
